ALL SORTS.

Don't forget the sport at Steamboat to-day—races and baseball.

Oliver Roberts and Charles Colburn started for Pine Nut last evening to prospect the great ledge.

The alarm of fire yesterday morning was caused by the burning of tickle grass in the rear of the school house.

Hon. William Thompson has three horses, Tom Stacey, Bessie Shannon and Joe, in training for the races next September.

Sparkling, cooling and refreshing orange cider, ginger ale, sarsaparilla and iron and creamy Boen beer to be had at Chas. H. Kelly's in lots to suit.

The boys composing the T. C. P. T. Club gave a very pleasant and well attended party at Armory Hall last night. The APPEAL acknowledges a complimentary ticket.

The cash receipts of the State Land office for the week ending July 17th were $793.76. Since the last report two applications for State land were filed, embracing 159.10 acres.

Cattle along the Humboldt are affected with peculiar eye disease, which is said to resemble pink-eye. A white scum forms over the eye, and in some cases causes nearly total blindness.

The bodies of the three Chinamen killed in the railroad accident were laid away yesterday with imposing ceremonies, and a number of carriages followed the corpses to the grave.

For Commissioners of Deeds for the State of Nevada, the Governor made the following appointments: G. R. Du Boies to reside in Los Angeles, Cal., and R. H. Tatem to reside in Savannah, Georgia.

Theodore Winters' horses, now East, are getting in running order again. Yo Tambien won the Lakeview handicap, three-fourths of a mile, at Washington Park, Chicago, yesterday; time 1:14. There were twenty-two entries in the race.

Two six-horse teams will go from Carson to Steamboat today, besides a large number of buggies loaded with people who want to see the races and ball game. The ball game will commence at 11 a. m. sharp.

No Prosecution.

The assault made by Wm. Pickler on Henry Rosenbrock in the latter's saloon, caused the arrest of Pickler on the charge of assault to kill, and he was afterwards released in $500 bail.

Rosenbrock, over whose head several glasses had been broken, declined to prosecute, out of consideration of an old friendship between the two and the fact that Pickler was crazed with liquor at the time. Pickler accordingly pleaded guilty of assault and was fined $20 and costs.

The Stevenson Estate.

In the District Court, Rising presiding, in the matter of the Stevenson estate the report of sale of homestead to T. B. H. by for $7500 was confirmed; $3000 ordered set aside for widow, the balance of $4500 to be accounted for by the executrix as the funds and assets of the estate. Report of sale of Rock Point Mill, situated in Lyon county, to Union Mill & Mining Company, for $5000, confirmed.

An Editor on the War Path.

The Elko Independent says: The editor of the Advocate of Austin is on the war path because some persons without the fear of God before their eyes, shaved the hair off the manes and tails of a band of horses belonging to him and Mrs. Birchlin. He had his war paint on and offers a reward of $100 for evidence to convict the guilty parties. We hope that he will succeed in catching and punishing them as they deserve.

When going to the Post Office step into the City Drug Store and procure a box of WRISLEY'S fine Toilet Soap at cost.

PARSON KELLY.

A Sketch of a Well Known Carson Clergyman.

The Reno Gazette publishes the following:

Among the popular preachers in the State, and who especially endeared himself to the pioneers of the eastern and central part of it, was one that many yet remember as genial Parson Kelly. He was skilled in his calling, scholarly and eloquent, and added a vein of life and jollity to every social gathering. True, he was sometimes restored to clerical dignity by the firm but gentle admonition of his devout and devoted wife, whose simple reproof, couched in the one utterance, "Samuel P.," would return his countenance to the gravity demanded of his calling. But everybody liked him; the rich cultivated him; the sick took cheer from his presence; the giddy gave cheerfully to the contribution box; the best liked him none the less, and the sports would have him bury their dead. Not a driver on the central stage lines but preferred him to any one else on the box outside, and the genial wag, Tom Rielley, who drove in to the last "home station" many years ago, used his strongest words of admiration when he said "Kelly was a lizard." But Kelly's popularity led him into politics, and to give him a position would prove congenial to his tastes, he was elected State Superintendent of Public Schools and moved to the capital. Then the greatest misfortune that falls to man, befell him, and the death of his good wife checked his ambitions. At the close of his term, he drifted, perhaps unwisely into journalism, and became a hard worked reporter on the San Francisco papers, at a time when stirring political changes called forth steady toil that soon became drudgery. He banished grief in the exactions of the new life and worked with a will to serve his new masters. Suddenly he quit the pencil and with his only child departed for the east to end his life in the placid pursuit of his early calling in the quiet of his old home. What led to his sudden resolve may be inferred by his old Nevada friends in the following: He was met by an old friend in San Francisco just after the election or the adoption of the new constitution. Reporters had been hard worked in gathering returns, and Kelly told his friend of the fatigue.

"Well," said the friend "you were of course paid extra for the extra work?"
"No, not a bit of it," said the former parson.
"What," said his friend, "after being up so many nights, did not the rich proprietor of the leading daily pay you handsomely?"
Kelly's look of disgust over the treatment would require an artist to portray on canvas, but there was no mistaking the tone with which he replied:
"Naw! They didn't even say beer."

Fly Time.

Fly time is now beginning in earnest, and the little pests are in the mill, in the baby's mouth and everywhere, and the question of how to get rid of them is in every housewife's mouth. So we offer the following suggestion taken from the New York Journal: It is said that a dish of strong green tea, sweetened, is greatly relished by house-flies and is certain death to them. It is also claimed that a netting of large meshes stretched across the windows of a room lighted, only one side, will not be passed by the flies.—Enterprise.

But the surest way of all is to use the new insect annihilator compounded by Mr. Burt of this city.

Two weeks ago he made up 14 oz. boxes and placed them on sale at Heidenger's drug store. Only three boxes were left yesterday. It has proven very destructive to flies and bed bugs, as well as the insects that play havoc with your fruit trees.

It is non-poisonous to human beings, and 25 cents worth keeps a house clear of flies for one week.

FOR MRS. PRATT.

A Starter for the 10-Cent Fund.

The first man to offer money to the fund started by the APPEAL for Mrs. Lucy Pratt, was Charley Wilson. He called at this office with five dollars. It was refused as the APPEAL believes in the long run that that a 10 cent subscription will prove the most popular, and then again, we would like to see this fund to the heroic little woman become general all over the Coast, and if the limit of the subscription is 10 cents it will enable lots of Californians to subscribe who might hold back if the amount required was two bits. We believe in giving California a chance to redeem herself in the eyes of the other Pacific Coast states. The APPEAL believes that Nevada will give more per capita than California.

Years ago a man spoke disrespectfully of the President and was knocked down. The man who administered the punch was jailed and a popular ten cent subscription was started. Carson gave to this fund more than any city of its population in the Union.

Yesterday ten citizens of Carson gave a dime apiece for Mrs. Pratt the widow lady of San Francisco who gave 45 square inches of her skin to save a man's life. This is but a starter and the fund ought to reach liberal proportions in this city as well as all other cities in Nevada.

The following is the present state of funds:

Chas. Wilson	10cts
Sheriff Botsford	10cts
William Thomson, wife and children	60cts
APPEAL office	50cts
Three anonymous sub's	30cts
Total for yesterday	$1.60

We hope to be able to make a better showing in our next issue.

THE ZIRN MINE.

Hundreds of Dollars in a Handful of Rock.

William Zirn and Peter Anderson were in from Pine Nut Tuesday, with what they estimate to be $400 in gold rock. He carried the small packages in a couple of sacks and exhibited to the people at public places in town. This was taken out of the Zirn mine Monday, and Zirn says Otto Schultz, his partner took about $400 worth of rock to Carson Sunday. The Zirn find is really marvelous. Mr. Zirn told the writer that he took this rich rock from a shaft between 30 and 40 feet deep. He also says that he finds immensely rich rock 200 feet from the shaft. Zirn discovered fine quartz in this location in 1834 and has been following it up ever since. At times he says his partner Otto Shultz, who has backed him up during these years, wanted to throw up the claim. Zirn would not give it up. He liked the formation and believed the claim was rich.

In describing the ledge, Zirn says it runs north and south and that its course to the north is direct for Mount Davidson, while to the south its course is in the direction of the old Mammoth mine near Carter's Station.—Courier.
